

A BREATH OF FRESH AIR: FROM LANDSCAPE TO AIR POLLUTION.

Annual Meeting of the European Association for Environmental History (UK), in association with the Robens Institute,
May 13th, 1997, University of Surrey.

- 9-55 Steve Pedley, Robens Institute,
Impact of sewage enrichment on marine archaeological sites.
- 10-20 Raymond Smith, Independent,
Water resource policy in post-war Britain.
- 10-45 Karen Powell, Robens Institute,
Effect of groundwater quality upon waterlogged archaeological materials.
- 11-10 Teresa Ploszajska, University of Southampton,
Down to Earth? Geography fieldwork in English schools, 1870-1944.
- 11-35 COFFEE.
- 11-45 Peter Brandon, Council for the Protection of Rural England (Sussex),
Reviewing sacred idols in English planning:
The Green Belt and the AONB.
- 12-10 Linda Merricks & Alun Howkins, University of Sussex,
In somebody else's backyard: Middle class opinion & road protest.
- 12-35 Richard Sanders, Nene College,
Rural reform and the problems of environmental protection in the Peoples' Republic of China.
- 1-00 LUNCH.
- 2-00 Peter Brimblecombe, University of East Anglia,
Fume attacks in the development of Auckland's air pollution.
- 2-25 Maria Shahgedanove, University of Oxford,
A short history of air quality monitoring in Russian cities.
- 2-50 Catherine Bowler, University of East Anglia,
Comparative air pollution of York and Manchester.
- 3-15 COFFEE.
- 3-30 Christine Garwood, Nene College,
Controlling pollution in late Victorian England:
The enforcement of the Alkali Acts.
- 3-55 Robert Inkpen, University of Portsmouth,
Smoke and stone decay: Exeter Cathedral repairs in the 19th century.
Amended 12-5-97.